Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Bach et al (6,149,716), in view of Elliott et al (6,129,852).

Bach et al disclose a filter cleaning system (1) comprising a fluid manifold (18), a valve (44) arranged in fluid communication with the fluid manifold, and a nozzle (col. 8, lines 29-31) configured to receive a fluid from the fluid manifold (18) (see Fig. 2; col. 8, lines 22-47). Claims 1-19 differ from the disclosure of Bach et al in that the nozzle having a diffuser that separates the fluid jet into multiple jets. Elliott et al disclose a nozzle (9) including a diffuser (6) that separates the primary fluid jet into multiple jets (14, 18), and the diffuser arrangement located adjacent to the second end of nozzle body including a number of wedge constructions (see Figs. 9-12) (see col. 4, line 55 through col. 5, line 48; col. 6, lines 4-13 and lines 35-46). It would have been obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide a nozzle with multiple jets as taught by Elliott et al in the filter cleaning system of Bach et al since it is known that a flow control member with a divergent portion adapted to modify the cleaning fluid flow so that the internal portions of the filter cartridge are subjected to substantially uniform pressure exerted by the cleaning fluid flow, hence, increasing the filtration efficiency.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

- Nemesi et al (4,789,387) disclose a dust collector.
- Merritt (5,002,594) discloses a filter pulse-down cartridge cleaning mechanism.
- Klimczak (5,062,867) discloses a method of retrofitting a dust collecting apparatus.
